Re: Classroom Observation

I want to commend you on the excellent lesson I observed today in your class at Sunridge East. It truly was a model lesson. Your discussion regarding the Pilgrims, native Americans, and Thanksgiving was engaging to the student due to your fine use of visual aids. Not only were your students engaged in the lesson, but I, myself, learned a lot as well.

It is obvious you are quite knowledgeable about the content you were discussing; you expressed it articulately and deliberately so that your students could understand. I especially liked the manner in which you walked around, addressed each student, and recognized them by name.

Thank you for the opportunity to visit!
